ANNUAL SCIENTIFIC ASSEMBLY

HILTON NEW ORLEANS RIVERSIDE

NOVEMBER 13-15, 2025

ADVANCING ONCOLOGY CARE AND PREVENTION

The Southern Medical Association's 117th Annual Scientific Assembly, held in New Orleans in November 2025, will unite healthcare professionals across specialties and disciplines to explore the Oncology Continuum of Care. This event serves as a collaborative forum addressing critical aspects of oncology. Attendees can expect engaging sessions on topics such as the history of cancer, artificial intelligence in cancer care, survivorship, psychosocial support, preventative strategies, advanced surgical treatments, and the latest testing modalities. The Assembly will provide an opportunity to advance knowledge, share best practices, and foster innovation in improving patient outcomes.

In addition, the SMA Annual Scientific Assembly plays host to these annual social and scholarly events.

- SMArtBowl: Teams of medical students and/or residents can register to participate in this fun-filled, in-person competition consisting of rounds of multi-specialty medical trivia questions.
- Abstract Presentations: Medical students, residents, and fellows who placed in the Top 20 in SMA's virtual abstract competition will present their research in-person.
- Farewell Dinner: SMA's Assembly will conclude with an evening of dinner and dancing, ending with the SMA Presidential Inauguration and Awards Ceremony.
